President Enjoys Two Kinds Of Lifts On Sun Valley Trip

BY ERNEST B. VACCARO

Sun Valley, Idaho, June 8 (AP)—President Truman got physical and political lifts in Sun Valley before departing today on an automobile tour of Idaho apparently in a mood for fence mending, and "a fighting campaign" for the White House.

The political lift came from a promise by State Chairman Dan Cavanagh of Idaho's 12 votes in the Democratic national convention.

The other was a ride 1,200 feet up this Union Pacific railroad resort's "Dollar Mountain" in one of the chair lifts used by ski jumpers from all parts of the world.

Backing 100 Percent

The president conferred for 25 minutes with 25 Idaho Democratic politicians in the Sun Valley cottage of W. Averell Harriman, E. C. A. "roving ambassador" and former secretary of commerce.

Emerging, Cavanagh told reporters they had assured the President of Idaho's convention votes. He added:

"We told the President we are 100 per cent behind the Truman doctrine, behind his foreign and domestic policies and 100 per cent behind the Truman administration."

County Treasurer T. E. McDonald of Idaho Falls, who travelled 225 miles to see the President said Mr. Truman assured him he would make "a fighting campaign" for a term in his own right, when he suggested the need for such a fight.

The gathering here was described by Cavanagh as "a good Democratic meeting." It may furnish the pattern for such parleys in the future on the remainder of Mr. Truman's pre-convention speaking campaign which heads into Butte, Mont., tonight.

ONLY HALF OF THEM — Lew Morrison, outdoors editor of the Milwaukee Sentinel, found he had a lot to write about after spending a weekend at walleye fishing at the H. J. Norton cottage on the Ford River road. Left to right are: George Luhman, president of First Wisconsin Trust, Milwaukee; Lew Morrison, Herb J.

Norton and Dr. Millard Tufts, M. D. The string of fish they are holding represents only about half of their catch last weekend. Morrison said he planned to write an article about walleye fishing in the Escanaba area for the Hearst chain of newspapers, which would give the walleye fishing nation-wide publicity.

Western Germany Control Approved By French Cabinet

By MEL MOST

Paris, June 8 (AP)—The French cabinet approved today the six-power agreement on western Germany.

The ministers voted to submit the agreement to the national assembly Friday.

Foreign Minister Georges Bidault led the drive for formal acceptance of the accord reached by the United States, Great Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

He will meet the national assembly's foreign affairs committee tomorrow. Informed quarters said the assembly may approve the recommendations by the weekend.

Moscow newspapers carried New York and London dispatches on the plan but no editorials. The Russians have denounced the negotiations that led up to it.

The agreement, reached in London, was made public yesterday by the United States, Great Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

It calls for a West-German federal government, international control of Ruhr-Valley coal and iron, and safeguards to keep Germany from becoming a military threat.

It is subject to home-government approval. The British cabinet okayed it yesterday.

Some Frenchmen have voiced fears Germany would be allowed to become a menace again. Others have accused Bidault of making damaging concessions in the London negotiations.

Six Persons Killed When Train Strikes Auto At Kalamazoo

Kalamazoo, Mich., June 8 (AP)—Six persons, including a pregnant mother and four children, were killed today when a train smashed into a car near the Kalamazoo Municipal Airport.

Borgess hospital said the unborn child, whose birth was due within a few weeks, died before the mother could be operated on.

The mother was Mrs. Marie Brown, who died shortly after her husband, Vern K. Brown, 33, was killed. He recently bought a grocery in Scotts, Mich.

The other dead were Bonnie Lou, 20 months, and Verna Brown, 10, children of the couple, and Tommy Benton, 10, and his sister, Jean, 4, neighbors of the Browns in Scotts.

A fifth child, James Denton, 9, was seriously injured.

Lewis Claims Operators Owe $14,000,000

BY HAROLD W. WARD

Washington, June 8 (AP)—Soft coal operators today asked for another 24 hours in which to discuss a possible contract offer to John L. Lewis.

At their request, contract negotiations which were to resume at 1 p. m. (EST) were postponed until the same hour Wednesday.

The operators held a private huddle over what proposals they should make to the United Mine Workers for a new agreement. The present one expires June 30.

Yesterday, Lewis told them the miners had no specific wage proposals, but wanted "improvements" in pay and also demanded certain guarantees of benefits from the welfare fund. He invited a wage offer from the mine owners.

On new contract talks, the coal operators showed little inclination to pick up a bill for $14,000,000 in miners' death and disability benefits which Lewis tossed on the bargaining table.

Movies Ruled Out For Michigan Bars

Lansing, June 8 (AP)—The state liquor control commission refused today to permit bars to present movies as an added attraction to the cup that cheers.

The commission said motion pictures would provide a fire hazard and would require dimming bar lights below the acceptable limit.

L. O. Peterson, of Pete's Film Service, Lansing, had asked for the permission.

The commission said the ban doesn't apply to so-called panoramas (movies in a box) or television.

Marquette Prison Discipline Tightens

Corrections Director To Make Some Changes

Lansing, June 8 (AP)—Joseph W. Sanford, state corrections director, said today he plans to "head-chop" at Marquette branch prison although he indicated changes would be made in the prison administration.

Returning to Lansing Monday after a trip to Marquette during which he accepted the resignation of warden Gerald F. Bush, Sanford said he hoped the prison staff would start with a clean slate to "tighten up" the administration of the institution.

After Bush's resignation, Sanford appointed Emory J. Jacques of Marquette, former parole board member, acting warden of the prison.

Sanford said he was "very pleased" with the reaction of the prison staff and the public to the change in the top command.

Sanford declared that the escape of two long-termers from the prison while he was there was "an example of how things were being run up there." He said one of the men had an escape record, one had just been turned down on a parole application, and both were "tough customers."

They were both trustees, but Sanford said they should not have been permitted outside the walls.

The commissioner said he found "six or eight" restaurants being operated by inmates in the prison, about 80 oil or electric stoves in the cells and a few kerosene lamps, presumably for use after "lights out."

Rockford Citizens Give Warm Welcome To Swedish Prince

Rockford, Ill., June 8 (AP)—Rockford's Swedish citizenry took a holiday from its daily routine today to provide a warm welcome for Prince Bertil of Sweden upon his arrival from Chicago.

The Prince was due here this afternoon. A street parade will be followed tonight by a pageant in the high school stadium depicting the contribution of Swedish immigrants to the settlement and growth of the Rockford area.

Tomorrow the Prince will be guest of honor at a civic banquet. His day will be filled with other social appearances.

Prince Bertil is visiting Swedish-American communities of the Middle West as part of the observance of the 100th anniversary of Swedish pioneering in the midlands.

AT JOURNEY'S END Detroit (AP)—The body of David W. Oviatt, 61, of Lapeer, was found Monday in his hotel room here, police reported. Beside him was a loaded pistol, officers said, and on a writing stand in the room was a note in his undertaker reading, "I have reached journey's end. You take over from here."

Bernadotte Keeps Plan Of Palestine Armistice Secret

BY MAX BOYD

Cairo, June 8 (AP)—Egyptian forces tried to battle out of a Jewish coastal port and fighting continued in several areas of northern Palestine today while Arabs and Jews weighed their replies to the latest four-week truce proposal.

Eye-witnesses returning from the southern front near Tel Aviv said at least one and perhaps several Egyptian ships have landed troops on the coast in an attempt to rescue forces encircled at Isdud, 23 miles south of Tel Aviv and three miles south of the Israeli border. Jewish forces last Friday turned back four Egyptian vessels, two of them landing craft, in a battle off Tel Aviv.

The Jews said they have surrounded 1,000 men of an Egyptian force of 5,000 on the coast and were attacking in the area yesterday.

Foreign and Hebrew correspondents who made arrangements in Tel Aviv to visit the southern fighting front suddenly were ordered to stay in Tel Aviv. No explanation was given, but it seemed that the encircled Egyptian spearhead had wrested the initiative. The Jews admitted the attack on Miesanim and said fighting was continuing.

Tel Aviv was hit by successive air raids this morning, beginning at dawn. Planes, apparently fighter bombers, came in singly from over the sea, dropping bombs from 8,000 to 10,000 feet over the main section of the city. There were casualties in a small hotel and market place.

Jews and Arabs still disagreed over points in the truce proposal of Count Folke Bernadotte, the United Nations mediator, who has asked replies by tomorrow.

Answer By Tonight

Abdel Rahman Azzam, Pasha, secretary of the Arab league, said the league might give its final decision on the truce proposal to Bernadotte tonight. The Jews have not indicated whether they would reply by the deadline.

Bernadotte's plane left for Haifa this morning, but he remained here. The purpose of the trip could not be learned.

Bernadotte did not make public the truce terms or the starting time. A neutral source in Jerusalem said his proposal would

Montana Democrats Snubbed, They Claim

Leaders Wanted Ride On President's Train

Butte, Mont., June 8 (AP)—Arrangements for President Truman's visit here tonight are bringing everything from complaints to commendations from prominent Montana Democrats.

And the Republicans are making the best of it.

It started when State Democratic Chairman Lester H. Lobbe of Helena said party members were "hot under the collar" because they won't be allowed on the presidential train when it goes through the state.

He sent a wire to Nebraska Democratic Party Chairman William Ritchie. It said, in part: "Treatment accorded your committee and Iowa and Nebraska Democrats on occasion of President Truman's visit is same as we are receiving. We are given no part in arrangements, and have been advised that none of us will be permitted on the train."

An earlier comment on Lobbe's action came from Cascade County Republican Chairman William F. Browning at Great Falls. Said he:

"The Democrats have been riding planes, trains, busses and driving their own cars on government expense accounts in a thousand needless jobs in Montana since 1923."

"They naturally resent the President's flat refusal to punch free train tickets for them on another junket over Montana."

Petrillo Promises Job For Margaret

Asbury Park, N. J., June 8 (AP)—James C. Petrillo, head of the American Federation of Musicians (AFL), says he told President Truman not to worry—the union will "take care" of getting Margaret Truman a radio job no matter what the outcome of this year's presidential race.

Petrillo told the musicians' 51st annual convention yesterday that he had reassured President Truman about the future during a concert in Washington last month.

As for politics, Petrillo said he did not want to indicate yet where his union would place its support this year. But he said he could always find a job for Margaret.

Taft Counts On Stassen Vote Switch

BY JACK BELL

Washington, June 8 (AP)—Associates said today Republican presidential hopeful Robert A. Taft is counting heavily on mid-western support in what may be an all-out drive on the third or fourth convention ballot.

Although Taft himself has denied putting out any feelers, there are signs that the Ohio senator's friends are trying to get cozy with some of Harold E. Stassen's mid-western delegates.

The dog-eat-dog hostility of the Stassen-Taft primary battle in Ohio appears to have lost its sharp edge and talk of a possible combination between the two has revived.

Most of the speculation has had Stassen turning to Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan if the former Minnesota governor finds he himself can't make the nomination grade at Philadelphia.

Vandenberg Receptive? But the Taft camp insists this isn't necessarily so. They contend the possibility isn't too remote that Stassen might throw his strength to the Ohioan.

In any event, the Taft strate-

Oregon Flood Siege To Run For 3 Weeks

Portland, Ore., June 8 (AP)—The Columbia and Fraser rivers fired their third flood crest downriver today. Weary sandbag battalions defending battered American and Canadian dikes were reinforced for three more weeks of siege.

Scorching weather throughout the Pacific northwest sent tons of water from fast-melting mountain snow into the two rampaging river systems.

The Kootenay river, one of many feeding the Columbia, crashed through another dike in Canada. Water poured over 8,000 acres of rich farmland near Creston, B. C., 350 miles east of Vancouver.

Sun Melts Snowpack Elsewhere in the vast, flood-ravaged region of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and British Columbia men and machines held the weakening levees—barely held them.

How long they could go on winning, no one knew. Nor did anyone know what to expect from the third crest. It had not built up enough so forecasters could say if it would top the first and second crests of the past week. It all depended on how long the sun blazed down on the snowpack.

In both countries, more manpower and earthworking equipment was thrown into the battle that already has cost 27 lives and perhaps $140,000,000 damage. Hundreds still are listed as missing in the Memorial Day drowning of Vanport, war housing city of 18,700, on the Columbia river in Oregon near Portland.

Along the far-reaching flood fronts of the Columbia and Fraser, the fight is against two great currents—river and tide. In the American and Canadian lowlands near the Pacific the two combined against man.

Authorities at New Westminster, B. C., advised 5,000 residents of suburban Queensborough on Lulu Island to evacuate nightly while the swollen Fraser crashes into high tides coming up from the sea.

New Westminster's Mayor W. M. Mott appealed for 1,000 workers daily to meet the new crisis. "We will be able to hold the river bank if we get manpower," he said. "We are fully equipped with machinery and supplies but manpower is the vital link in the battle."

It was the same on the lower Columbia in the hard hit dike area from Portland down the Oregon and Washington shores 100 miles to the ocean. U. S. Army engineers rushed more men and equipment into the fight that has raged the clock around for 20 days.

Thousands of regular Army and Navy men, National Guardsmen and civilian volunteers worked frantically to make the levees higher, plug small breakthroughs and stop the seepage.

Girl Dead, 4 Injured In Indiana Tornado

Town Of 1,500 Wrecked By Violent Twister

Jeffersonville, Ind., June 8 (AP)—A tornado which killed one child and injured at least four other persons last night in Henryville (Clark county) climaxed a day of violent storms in Indiana.

State police identified the dead girl as Gayle Mullins, 10, injured included her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mullins; Mrs. Edna Applegate, 56, and Mrs. George Smallwood.

The Mullins girl was killed and her parents were injured seriously when their home collapsed. Mrs. Smallwood was injured in the collapse of her home and Mrs. Applegate's skull was fractured when she was struck by a flying brick.

Henryville's streets were a litter of rubble and fallen trees after the storm which struck about 6:00 p. m. More than 20 houses and barns were destroyed in the town of 1,500 and all utilities were knocked out.

The Red Cross sent in cots and blankets and set up a shelter for about 20 homeless families in the partially unroofed high school building. State troops and sheriff's deputies patrolled streets to prevent looting.

Los Angeles Club Wrecked By Blast; Five In Hospitals

Los Angeles, June 7 (AP)—A gas blast heard for miles blew the fashionable Hillcrest Country Club apart today, sending five persons to hospitals.

Two of the victims were in the dining room, and one said "the table lifted up and fell on us." One of the victims, a woman, escaped injury by a few moments.

The explosion occurred in a locker room, and scattered lockers in a semi-circle for 50 feet. The roof blew off the clubhouse and a fire virtually gutted it despite efforts of 12 fire companies. Loss was estimated by Manager John Steinberg at $175,000.

State Fair Control Feuding Is Settled

Agriculture Commission Divides Up Duties

Lansing, June 8 (AP)—The state agriculture commission yesterday ratified an agreement designed to end its feuding with the board of state fair managers.

The agreement, drawn at the urging of the executive office, divides the control of the state fair and the state fairgrounds between the two agencies.

The commission will continue to be in charge of the grounds except during the fair itself. All changes in the physical plant are to be approved by the commission, but the board may make suggestions.

In the period from July 1 to Oct. 15, while arrangements for the fair are being made, the state fair manager is to "act in behalf of the commission" in charge of maintenance. He would be empowered to hire additional maintenance men.

The commission is to continue to have final say as to approval of the use of the grounds by outside groups. The fair manager, however, is to be permitted to investigate requests.

The agreement was sent to the fair board. It is due to remain in effect a year after both agencies approve.

The present draft is a revised form of an agreement ratified last month by the board but turned down by the commission.

VA Now Requires Some Schools To Prove Their Charges Not Excessive

In an effort to eliminate abuses in tuition charges of many private schools training veterans under the G. I. Bill of Rights, which have been uncovered in recent months, the Veterans Administration has tightened its contract requirements, H. A. Mosher, manager of the Upper Peninsula office of the Veterans Administration, announced yesterday.

The new contract standards, aimed at assuring that the federal government does not pay for more than the veteran actually receives during his training, are effective July 1, 1943.

It was emphasized that the new requirements affect only the following institutions whose enrollments consist mostly of veterans: Schools established since passage of the G. I. Bill and schools whose charges increased materially since the G. I. Bill program began.

These schools, effective July 1, will be required to show that their charges are not excessive for the services they are offering to veterans.

Previously the VA's policy was to pay private profit schools the customary charges made to all students. These payments could not exceed the rate of $500 for a full time course for an ordinary school year, Mosher explained. Schools whose rates were higher had to justify their charges as fair and reasonable and negotiate a contract with VA.

VA based this policy on the assumption that the customary charges, established on a competitive market before passage of the G. I. Bill, were fair and reasonable.

However, since the beginning of the G. I. education and training program June 22, 1944, many new profit schools were established with veterans constituting the majority of their enrollees. During this period, other longer established schools, with predominantly veteran enrollees, increased their charges, he pointed out.

Had Little Control

The Veterans Administration had little control over the tuition rates charged by these schools since no customary charges existed on which fair and reasonable tuition could be determined, and as a result some schools set excessive rates for their instruction.

In many cases, it was pointed out, rates were several times higher than charges for similar instruction made by older, well-established private schools in the same area. Rates often were set as high as possible because no justification of charges in a VA contract was required.

Under the new regulations, VA will allow private schools to include reasonable and necessary costs of operation in their financial statements. Advertising expenses, previously not considered, now will be allowed within prescribed limits.

Schools affected must negotiate a contract with VA to continue their veterans training. They will receive a written notice from VA at least 30 days before the date the contract is required, and after that date, no payments will be made by VA until the contract has been signed.

Contract rates will not exceed charges determined by the VA to be fair and reasonable, Mosher pointed out. These rates will include a maximum allowance of 10 per cent for profit.

Rainfall Below Normal In Merry Month Of May

The wind blew a little harder. The sun shone a little longer. Rainfall was less, but there was a trace of snow.

Apart from those variations from normal, the weather during May was just ordinary spring weather, Meteorologist Henry E. Hathaway's monthly report discloses.

Greatest deviation from normal was a rainfall of only 1.18, compared with a normal of 2.93 inches—which accounts for the heavy demand on the city's water supply during the waning days of May to give lawns and early gardens a good start.

May was dry, but the rainfall of the last two days is making up for it.

That trace of snow was recorded May 7, and the "heaviest" rainfall of the month occurred May 6 when all of 34 of an inch fell. It rained small amounts on only eight of May's 31 days.

By contrast, the sun shone 100 per cent of the time on six days during the month and the average was 60 per cent, compared with a normal of 55. The average hourly velocity of the wind was 11.7, or two miles per hour greater than normal.

The temperature was practically normal—an average maximum of 57.5 compared with a normal of 58.6, an average minimum of 40.1 against a normal minimum of 41.6, all of which adds up to an overall average of 48.3, only eight-tenths of a degree below the normal mean.

Average temperature in May last year was 45.4, but if you think that was cold, you should have been around in 1907—or were you?—when the average was 31.4 degrees (below freezing, mind you). That is the coldest May here on record.

Truck Is Hit By Soo Line Train

A Forest Service truck, driven by Harry Jackovich of Gladstone, was struck by a Soo Line freight train at a private road crossing near Rapid River Saturday afternoon. The vehicle was demolished but none was injured.

Jackovich was arrested on a charge of operating a vehicle without an operator's license in his possession.

The Forest Service truck was pulling a trailer, carrying a bulldozer and tractors. Just as the vehicle approached the crossing, 1 of the trailer wheels slipped off the road and stalled the truck on

REFUSE DUMP IS PROTESTED

Garbage Piled On Road- Side Near Schaffer

Citizens of Bark River township are circulating a petition protesting to the township board against the use of county highway No. 13, about two miles north of Schaffer, as a garbage dump.

A small mountain of garbage, 100 feet square and almost 20 feet high, has been dumped along the road side and overflows onto the farm of Alphonse LeClaire.

The petition circulators are asking for the establishment of a garbage dump in some more isolated area. They claim the pile of debris, infested by rats and snakes, is a menace to public health, for it might pollute a well on the LeClaire farm. They also fear that children, playing in the area, might be bitten by disease-carrying vermin.

Virtually every township in Delta county, it appears, has or has had a garbage problem. In Escanaba township, the public is dumping at the Flat Rock gravel pit. For some time, garbage dumpers marred the roadside scenery along highway U.S. 2 on the Whitefish hill, until a special dump was established some distance from public view.

Establishment of a public garbage dump is the responsibility of the township governments.

State Aeronautics Board To Convene Here On Thursday

When the Michigan board of aeronautics meets in the council chambers of the Escanaba city hall from 2 to 5 Thursday afternoon, it will mark the first time the board has ever met in the Upper Peninsula.

It is expected that all members of the state aeronautics board will be present. They are Col. Floyd E. Evans, director; Cass S. Hough, chairman; Mario Fontana, vice-chairman; William B. Stout, Thomas E. Walsh, Bruce E. Anderson, Donald S. Leonard, Charles M. Ziegler and P. J. Hoffmaster.

In a letter to airport managers of the Upper Peninsula, it was pointed out that this is an open meeting, and all persons having recommendations, grievances, suggestions or air problems of any sort to discuss with members of the board are invited to attend the meeting in Escanaba.

The session here constitutes the regular June meeting of the board. Members will be guests at the House of Ludington during their brief stay here, and they also will be guests of Herbert J. Norton for walleyed pike fishing at his cottage.

Orthopedic Clinic Opens Today; Will Examine 202

The largest orthopedic clinic in local history opened today in Escanaba Junior high school under sponsorship of the Michigan's Crippled Children's Commission, with 202 patients scheduled for orthopedic examination. The clinic will end tomorrow afternoon when the examination schedule is completed.

Dr. Carlton Dean, Lansing, medical director of the Michigan Crippled Children's Commission, and commission staff members are in Escanaba for the clinic. The examinations are being made by two orthopedic surgeons, Dr. E. R. Elzinga of Marquette, and Dr. J. T. Jerome of Traverse City.

The clinic is sponsored for the purpose of examining crippled persons under 21 years of age and to assist them in obtaining corrective treatment and rehabilitation. No charge is made for the examination, and when x-rays are ordered by the examining physician they will be taken without cost to the patient.

One hundred crippled children and youths were scheduled for examination today, and 102 tomorrow.

The Delta county health department, Dr. William Harrison, director, made arrangements for the clinic, and other local agencies and organizations cooperated in the success of the clinic. The Lay Health Committee, headed by Mrs. C. Riegel, provided assistants; the Rotary Club assisted with transportation for patients needing x-ray. The local unit of the Crippled Children's Society, the American Legion, probate court and St. Francis hospital are also cooperating.

Other personnel of the Crippled Children's Commission included Miss Bernice Blodgett, Marquette, and Miss Jane Thompson, Lansing, physiotherapists; Miss Abrams, medical secretary; and from the Crippled Children's Society, Miss Betty Mazola, Detroit, physiotherapist. Dr. A. H. Miller of Gladstone was medical coordinator.

The State Board of Control for Vocational Rehabilitation was represented by John Groop, who advised the patients or the parents on the state's rehabilitation program, and Joseph Shipman, who presented information on braces, shoes, and other special appliances for the crippled.

During the noon hour lunch was served at the school to the clinic staff and assistants.

freeze the military situation, permit Jewish immigration if it does not change the military situation, permit food supplies to be sent to besieged Jerusalem's Jews, and forbid establishment of any new forward area munitions dumps. The informant gave this plan a 50-50 chance of acceptance.

The seven-nation Arab league wants no Jewish immigration, and wants to continue the siege of Jerusalem.

Irgun Zvai Leumi, still considering itself an underground organization outside Israel's borders, announced in a broadcast it will not accept truce terms for Jerusalem which will permit the city to remain under siege. The Jews hold most of the new city, while Arabs hold all the approaches.

Taft Counts On Stassen Votes From Midwest

gists figure they can cut into Stassen's midwestern strength even if the Minnesotan tries to take it elsewhere. Accordingly, they have spent some time courting Stassen delegates from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Nebraska.

Stassen now has Minnesota's 25 votes tucked away, along with 19 of the 27 in Wisconsin. He will get most, if not all of Nebraska's 15 on the first ballot. He claims a majority of Iowa's 23, but the Taft camp credits him with only six there, claiming 14 for themselves.

The Taft people even have some hopes of breaking into the 41 Michigan votes that are lined up for Vandenberg—if the Michigan senator finally puts his foot down on those who have been trying to boom him for a nomination he says he doesn't want.

Most of Taft's friends think Vandenberg is in a receptive mood, no matter what he says.

He got the call about the new job...

because party-line sharing gave him a telephone

THOUSANDS of folks who might still be waiting for telephones have them now—because service is shared the neighborly, party-line way.

When more than one telephone is connected to a line, available equipment is put to fuller use. That's why, in communities where facilities are limited, only party-line telephones are being installed in private homes—why individual-line service is not yet available to party-line subscribers who would like to change.

Additional central office equipment and cables are being manufactured at a record-breaking rate. And we're installing them just as fast as they're received—speeding the day when everyone can have the kind of service he wants.

A GOOD PARTY-LINE NEIGHBOR

Traffic At The Straits

AUTOMOBILE traffic across the Straits of Mackinac in 1947 reached an all time high of more than 500,000 vehicles, indicating the growing popularity of the Upper Peninsula as a vacationland.

The record figure also reveals the necessity for shortening the boat run at the Straits by completing and using the causeway near St. Ignace. Approximately $600,000 was spent in developing the causeway and then the project was dropped. The present administration of the state highway department contends that the causeway is impractical because there are periods of high winds and rough seas during which the proposed causeway dock could not be used.

And yet the state highway department's own figures reveal that two-thirds of the annual traffic across the Straits via the ferries is carried during the summer vacation period. It is during this period that the weather conditions are most ideal and when the causeway dock could be used virtually without interruption. The auxiliary route east to the present St. Ignace docks could, of course, still be used on occasions when rough seas preclude the use of the causeway dock.

There is some disagreement regarding just how much time could be saved by the shorter run to the proposed causeway dock but undoubtedly the saving would be considerable. The water route would be cut more than in half.

The unification of the two peninsulas of Michigan depends to a considerable degree upon reduction of the traffic bottleneck at the Straits of Mackinac. It may not come by a tunnel or a bridge for years to come but it is possible to do something about it immediately by completing the causeway and constructing the dock at the new location.

When this occurs the Upper Peninsula's growing resort business will increase at an accelerated pace.

Benes Resigns

PRESIDENT Benes has resigned as head of the Czechoslovakian state rather than sign the Communist-dictated constitution. Benes resigned on the final day remaining for him to approve the constitution.

His resignation from office removes from the Czechoslovakian government the last vestiges of democracy. Even had he remained, of course, he would have been helpless against the Communists who are in complete control of his country. The single-ticket parliamentary election proved that democracy as Americans know it was gone in Czechoslovakia.

The resignation of Benes follows by three months the suicidal death of Jan Masaryk, who with Benes fought for a democratic government in Czechoslovakia. Henceforth Czechoslovakia will be ruled by direction from the Kremlin in Moscow, just as are the other Red puppet governments of eastern Europe.

It has long been evident that Benes' days as president of Czechoslovakia were numbered. If he failed to resign, he would probably have been executed if he remained in office and attempted to thwart the Communist regime. Even now he faces a dire future.

No Truce In Palestine

BARRING a sudden reversal of conflicting attitudes by the Jews and Arabs, hopes for a truce in the Palestine war are rapidly disappearing. Both sides had originally accepted the proposals advanced by Count Bernadotte of Sweden, the UN mediator, but with such reservations that made acceptance meaningless. Since then the problem has been to reach agreement on terms for the truce.

The Jews insisted that during the period of the truce all immigration except military personnel would be permitted and that the Jerusalem to Tel Aviv highway, supply route for Jews besieged in Jerusalem, would be kept open. For their part, the Arabs stipulated that any truce must not assume the division of Palestine into separate Arab and Jewish states.

The belated efforts of the United Nations to unsmother the Palestine mess are complicated by the fact that the war was permitted to develop in the first place. If the UN had made provisions to enforce the original partition decision, there would be no war in the Holy Land today, assuming, of course, that the UN sent sufficient troops adequately equipped to maintain order.

The target date for the proposed truce is now set for Thursday but in all probability it will not materialize. The Jews cannot permit the supply route to Jerusalem to be closed because that would endanger the 90,000 Jews besieged there. The Arabs, on the other hand, have given no indication that they would permit the highway to remain open.

In fact, both sides seem to have taken the position that if a truce does develop, it would be used simply for the purpose of intensifying preparations for resumption of warfare.

What Causes Accidents?

THE Connecticut Department of Motor Vehicles recently concluded some tests to determine what makes bad drivers and also what makes good drivers. The results are interesting because they reveal that repeated accidents are not caused by a driver's bad luck, as so many people believe.

The Connecticut department learned, for instance, that personality characteristics do play an abnormal part in repeated accidents. Chastity drivers who felt that their driving was unaffected by five drinks of whiskey were conspicuously among those who had the poorest driving records. Nearly half of the bad drivers were convinced that they wear their drinks well and some expressed the opinion that they could stand 10 or more without affecting their ability to drive.

The accident-free motorists were far more modest in their opinion of how much liquor they can stand. The drivers with records of 100.00 miles or more of driving without an accident also displayed a higher degree of motoring courtesy and obedience to traffic laws than did the poor drivers. Further, the accident repeaters generally showed preference for greater speeds than did the motorists with good driving records.

Most repeaters showed more evidence of emotional disturbances and other difficulties that upset a driver under conditions of stress, such as traffic jams.

Information of this kind is beneficial to all of the states in their efforts to reduce the heavy toll of traffic accidents.

VANISHING "HIRED GIRLS"

(Christian Science Monitor)

Half a million women who used to be domestic workers have quit since the beginning of the war, according to Miss Frieda S. Miller, director of the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor—and they show no signs of coming back. Many of them went into factories. Some got better paying jobs; others didn't, when board, room, laundry and carfare are counted in.

Meanwhile the historic source of new household employees, Canada and other countries, has dropped off. The war put Canadian and other women into the factories also, and as in America, they are usually staying there.

For many an American woman, going into industry has opened the door to becoming a skilled worker, a position with first-class pay and prestige. Some of these newly skilled additions to the labor force are now competing with men. The demand for women in the public employment offices in a number of the industrial states far exceeds that for men.

But other hundreds of thousands of women doing domestic service have held to their old-time jobs. Some will never give up the home. When figuring up its value, they reckon good food, steady pay—and pay went up during the war—quiet, and pleasant surroundings.

Those that have gone out of the home have generally been glad to escape the loneliness they felt as a household employee who seldom worked with others of her kind. Many have found a personal satisfaction and happiness. The new life may be a little harder, but they accept it and don't question its value. So many women have had to take what they could get in the way of work regardless of whether or not they liked it that this one change of occupation has meant progress.

NEW YORK'S FINE AIRPORTS

(New York Sun)

One of the reasons why New York is blazing the trail (in airport development) is that it has such an agency as the port authority upon which it could call when it could not otherwise manage the job. Other cities may have to establish similar authorities before they can get into the rapidly moving procession of air expansion. If and when they do, however, they will find that the pattern of how to make airports pay has been cut for them here.

Take My Word For It

SECRETARY'S SCRAPBOOK

Secretaries by the dozen write to me each week about punctuation marks in quotations. Should the punctuation marks go inside or outside the final quotation mark? Here are the few simple rules which are followed by newspapers, magazines, and publishing houses.

1. Commas and periods always go inside the quotes, thus: "It seems to me," he said, "that Hawaii should be admitted to statehood." (The comma after "me" and the period after "statehood" must be placed before, and not after, the quotation mark.)

2. Colons and semicolons always follow the quotation mark, thus: This is my answer to his statement, "American youth is decadent"; rubbish! He said, "I refuse to answer the question"; nevertheless, I believe he can be persuaded to answer it.

3. In listing a series of quotations, either commas or semicolons may be used; but note their positions:

Commas. We recommend these books: "Rogers' Thesaurus," Mencken's "The American Language," Johnson's "New Rhyming Dictionary."

Semicolons. We recommend these books: "Rogers' Thesaurus"; Mencken's "The American Language"; Johnson's "New Rhyming Dictionary."

4. Question marks and exclamation points. These cause a good deal of confusion. Let me state the rule as clearly as I may: (a) If the question mark or exclamation point belongs with the matter quoted,

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—The contrast between the two worlds could hardly be greater. It is the kind of heightened drama characteristic of our time. The contrast is sharper because it occurs within one family. The central figure is Paul Robeson, the Negro singer with the magnificent voice and the magnificent presence.

Robeson is a member of the executive committee for Henry Wallace. He came to Washington the other day to testify against the Mundt bill to control or outlaw Communism.

He expressed himself freely in spite of heckling from members of the Senate judiciary committee. As he has done often in the past, Robeson charged repression, discrimination and a drive to establish a Fascist state. He refused to say, in answer to repeated questions whether he was a member of the Communist party.

Traveling through the United States, he has made the same charges before large audiences. I saw him at a huge Wallace rally in Madison Square Garden, when 20,000 people cheered his singing.

This crusade in politics comes for Robeson on top of a distinguished career. Who's Who in America lists several honorary degrees, including one from Columbia university. At his own college, Rutgers, he was Phi Beta Kappa; and Walter Camp rated him an All-American end. His record in the theater and on the concert stage is a long series of triumphs.

The other side of the drama occurred in that other world, Russia. The story told here came from an individual who was directly involved. I have confidence in the integrity of that individual and in the details of the story as he tells it.

A RUSSIAN INCIDENT

Some years ago, one of Robeson's near relatives went to the Soviet Union to live. He renounced his U. S. citizenship to become a Soviet citizen. He believed that Soviet Russia, in abolishing racial barriers, had established a world of full equality in which justice and truth would certainly prevail.

About two years ago, this man came to the American embassy in Moscow. He asked to see an official of the embassy whom he had previously met once or twice. Plainly in a state of great agitation, he asked if they could talk in some private room—not in the official's office, where he was afraid there would be listening devices. They went to a room on the second floor of the embassy. There the former American told the official that he couldn't stand living in Russia any more. He was afraid for his life. He pleaded for help.

The official replied that unfortunately nothing could be done. Once an American citizen has renounced his citizenship, he loses all right of protection or asylum. The visitor, in a state bordering on open hysteria, left the embassy.

Standing at a second-floor window, the official saw plain-clothes secret police, stationed near the embassy, begin to follow the unhappy man. No American has ever seen or heard of him again and he is presumed to be either dead or in a labor camp.

CAN PROTEST IN U. S.

Of course, there is discrimination in the United States—and repression, too. But Paul Robeson can denounce it. And men with lesser talents and smaller stature can speak their minds.

In that other world of Russia, no protest of any kind is possible. The answer to even a whispered protest is prison or death. What is so strange is that Robeson and others like him idealize that world.

While they protest loudly against the Mundt bill, they actually welcome it. It would help to prove the charges they bring against our system. They could become martyrs, they could go underground in the pattern of those whom they so blindly idealize.

This is not too hard to understand. A man of great intelligence and sensitivity profoundly resents discriminations based on the accident of birth. And for those who are not so intelligent, there are clever people to exploit a sense of injustice and frustration.

What is really hard to understand is why lawmakers of the type of Rep. Karl E. Mundt seem to want to hand the Communists an issue. They invite demonstrations, marches and other forms of attention-getting behavior. And because there are many non-Communists opposed to the Mundt bill, they create sympathy for the martyrs who are so eager for martyrdom.

place it inside the quotes, thus:

He asked, "Is it time to go?" Patrick Henry said, "Give me liberty or give me death!"

(b) If the question mark or exclamation point is not part of the matter quoted, place it outside the quotes, thus:

Did he say, "It is time to go?" You lie when you say, "This money belongs to him!"

5. This sentence illustrates a quotation within a quotation that contains a quotation:

He said, "I quote from his letter, 'I agree with Kipling that "the female of the species is more deadly than the male," but that is an unchangeable law of nature,' a remark that he did not explain."

6. If you have difficulty using the ten self words: Mr. Colby's leaflet, C-23, "Self Words," makes it easy for you to learn the only two ways in which they can be used correctly.

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

SPELLING—America is reaping its reward in faulty spellings after an era devoted to teaching the young that spelling was non-essential.

To the Daily Press office this day came an announcement from two colleges in the Middle West, reporting that two Escanaba young people were receiving degrees.

Both college typists misspelled "receive", placing the e before the e. Perhaps degrees in spelling would not be amiss, or it might be well to have the whole graduating class repeat in unison, with appropriate facial expressions and full pear-shaped tones: "I before E except after C."

This might be set to music, or at least become the refrain for a popular tune, and played intermittently over the public address system of the educational institutions in America. It would assist undergraduates, postgraduates and the faculty.

ANY OLD WAY.—Not only was the word receive misspelled in one announcement but the name of the commencement speaker was also garbled. The speaker is an educator of prominence at one of the nation's leading universities and the university is only three blocks from the college at which he will speak. Misspelling of his name, therefore, appears to be inexcusable.

As we mentioned before, our colleges and universities are now reaping the reward of a decade or more of neglected spelling instruction in the public schools. Fortunately for the youngsters the trend is changing and spelling is once more given the emphasis it deserves.

LEARNING.—In the good old days (which may have been old but not necessarily good) things were different. A child learned to read as he was taught to spell. The alphabet was important in those days, and teachers went on the assumption that unless a child had memorized the letters of the alphabet he could not be expected to read or spell.

Once the child had become more or less familiar with the alphabet he was taught to take those consonants and vowels and use them in spelling and reading. The cat, rat, ran method of teaching may have been slow, but it was thorough and it emphasized the necessity of using letters to form words. Spelling and reading went hand in hand. The child who learned to read could also spell.

To further emphasize correct spelling, intra and inter-school spelling contests were held. These "spelling bees" were attended by parents and friends of the students. The championship events attracted wide attention in the community and parents considered a teacher a success or failure depending upon her ability to conduct spellings.

SCANNING.—In more recent years parents were started to find their children reading well from school exercise books soon after kindergarten. The more inquiring parents, however, discovered that the children had learned to read by recognizing words in their entirety, not through an understanding of their component letters.

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Perronville.—Rev. Fr. Francis Krysty, pastor of St. Michael church, is in St. Francis hospital for treatment of injuries sustained last night when he drove his car off the roadway at Schaffer to avoid hitting a pedestrian.

Escanaba.—Mr. and Mrs. John Pruner are leaving tonight for St. Paul, Minn., to attend graduation exercises at St. Catherine college. Later they will go to Lawrence college in Appleton, Wis., to attend commencement exercises there, at which time their son John Jr., will be graduated. John will enroll in the medical college of Northwestern university this fall.

Twenty Years Ago

Escanaba.—Mr. and Mrs. C. Charlebois of Flat Rock are leaving today for a three week visit in Montreal, Ottawa, Mason and Buckingham, Canada.

Manistique.—Dr. and Mrs. S. Stevens have left for Marcellus, Mich., where they will make their home.

Gladstone.—Mr. and Mrs. Leslie LaBumard are the parents of a son, Lester Lawrence, born June 1.

Wells.—Mrs. William Mather is leaving today for Sudbury, Canada, where she will visit a few days and then go to Montreal to board the steamer Minnedosa, for Alexandria, Scotland, to visit her father and brothers. While there Mrs. Mather will also visit in Ireland and other parts of the British Isles. Mrs. Mather has not visited her former home in the past 17 years.

Children who had learned to recognize the word "school" pronounced as school every word that had any similarity. Scholar and schooner were likely to be pronounced "school"; so also were such words as spool, stool and cool.

If the child was asked to spell the words he so glibly read, he would tell you that he didn't know how. Reading was a matter of visual association. Recognize a word and it was yours, whether you could spell it or not. Reading habits were established that encouraged the child to skip the unrecognized word, because he had no way of analyzing or understanding it through the slower method of spelling.

SWINGING BACK.—After a decade or more of this "progressive" method of teaching one of the fundamentals of education, the rumblings of protest began to be heard in the business world. High school and college graduates found themselves handicapped in their efforts to express their thoughts in writing. They could not spell and often words of similar sound but totally dissimilar meaning appeared in their letters, with ludicrous effect. Stenographers and secretaries, adept at shorthand but inept at spelling, spent a considerable portion of their time consulting the dictionary.

"We want office employees who can read, write and spell," employers told the nation's educators. And they added that young people should also have a well-based knowledge of simple arithmetic.

Within the last few years there have been perceptible changes in the teaching of the "Three R's." The alphabet and the multiplication table are back in favor again and the hum of the spelling bee is a pleasant sound in the community.

Across the country grass widows and spinsters are springing up like dandelions to announce their willingness to race to the altar with the right man. But he doesn't have to be tall, dark and handsome. The first qualification of their atom age Romeo is a five-figure bank account.

This new pattern in leap year courtships was set by a sprightly suburban blonde with one divorce and two children. She's had scores of offers since she began looking for a husband with $10,000. A brunette in Seattle went her one better by advertising for a husband with $10,000—plus a home.

And now the field is flooded with unwed damsels who'd put themselves on the matrimonial mart for a prince charming with a charming credit rating.

The Old Economic Law

But the old law of supply and demand has set in. Some girls have cut the asking price to $5,000 and a wedding ring, and the under-the-counter figure is probably lower than that in many cases.

I hope all the girls get the man of their financial dreams. But if most of the lassies in America start refusing to dedicate their lives to a cookstove except on a cash-and-carry basis, they are bound to lose. The going rate on those enduring young charms will quickly drop to bargain basement levels.

It's a matter of cold, sad statistics. It boils down to these facts: women control most of the nation's wealth; more women than men want to marry; but the male is vanishing. He can't stand the pace.

How could the girls hold out for a gent with a fat pocketbook? There aren't that many around. One out of every seven girls today will end up a spinster even though she's willing to give her hand on the installment plan.

The average girl today no longer can enjoy the classic luxury of deciding whether she'd rather marry a young man with an apple in his hand, or plight her troth to an old man with a hundred acres of land. She lacks suitors in both brackets. She may have to get an apple or some land herself to attract a wandering male.

Bachelors Have Advantage

For women appear to be less of a matrimonial bargain than men. Here is the ungalant picture: A woman of 30 has only about an even chance of marrying; at 40 it's a four-to-one bet she won't; at 50 the odds against her are 16 to 1.

But the odds are 13-to-10 that the bachelor of thirty will marry. And the odds are only 3-to-1 against him at 40, and 10-to-1 at 50.

The plain truth is, fellows, that good men are in short supply and getting scarcer all the time. It's the women who ought to be bidding for us. If it's the woman who pays, let her start paying. Anybody know a lonely widow who can cook—and has $50,000 to cook with?

My wife, Frances, just read this piece. She thinks my idea of women bidding for husbands is completely silly.

"Listen, my little child bridegroom," she said, "if there is going to be any lonely widow with $50,000 around this house, I want it to be me."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—Michigan's Congressman Jesse Wolcott, who has been bottling up the housing bill, thought he would show he was not anti-veteran by calling two witnesses to speak for the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He did this despite the fact that he had a telegram in his pocket officially repudiating the two witnesses. Signed by Merle Hopper, Michigan VFW commander, the telegram read:

"George Lyle and Arthur Greig purported to represent Michigan Department VFW on housing at your committee hearings. No one but myself is authorized to speak for VFW in Michigan on any subject before Congress."

Deliberately ignoring this protest from the VFW commander, Wolcott in effect deceived the public by putting Greig and Lyle on the stand to denounce low-cost housing for war vets. He also failed to mention that Greig and Lyle for a long time have been playing hand-in-glove with the real-estate lobby in Detroit.

However, Representative Hale Boggs of Louisiana, himself a veteran, did not let Wolcott get away with this. He asked Lyle if the National VFW was for public housing. Knowing the answer was "Yes," Wolcott had the nerve to try to interrupt Boggs. But the Louisianaan persisted:

"I insist on an answer to my question as to whether the National VFW has endorsed this bill—yes or no."

Lyle finally had to admit that the Veterans of Foreign Wars favored passage of the housing bill and he and Greig were speaking only for themselves. Chairman Wolcott looked very sick.

HITLER'S STANDARDS

In setting up the standards for admitting 200,000 displaced persons into the United States, the Senate approved some tricky language the other day aimed at excluding most Jews and Catholics. In so doing, the Senate actually accepted Hitler's yardstick in singling out those entitled to American refuge.

But what the senators probably didn't realize is that their legal doubletalk may also get the United States into hot water on the diplomatic front, for the bill to admit displaced persons was worded in such a way as to give tacit recognition to the Soviet conquest of Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania.

The state department has been careful not to recognize Russia's annexation of these tiny Baltic states, but the Senate bill requires that 50 per cent of the refugees permitted to enter the U. S. A. must come from a country that has been "annexed by a foreign power." This can only mean the three Baltic states swallowed by Russia.

The hidden purpose of this provision is to keep out Jews and Catholics, since there are none in Latvia, Estonia or Lithuania.

West Virginia's Republican Senator Chapman Revercomb, who championed these "Hitler amendments," fought down several attempts by Democratic Senators Howard McGrath of Rhode Island and Carl Hatch of New Mexico to liberalize the bill.

When Revercomb's bill finally reached the Senate floor, McGrath snorted in disgust: "The mountain has labored and brought forth a mouse."

Note.—Senator William Langer, North Dakota Republican, pushed through an amendment which would admit 27,000 persons of German Ethnic origin to this country every year. These are the Sudeten Germans who formed the fifth column for Hitler's expansion in Czechoslovakia.

EDUCATION ROLLCALL

Here are the congressmen inside the House education and labor committee who are bottling up the federal-aid-to-education bill; also those who are for aiding the teachers:

Against the bill—Republicans: Schwabe, Missouri; Gwinn, New York; Kersten, Wisconsin; Owens, Illinois. Democrats: Lesinski, Michigan; Kelley, Pennsylvania; Kennedy, Massachusetts; Lucas, Texas.

For the bill—Republicans: Landis, Indiana; Hoffman, Michigan; McCown, Ohio; Brehm, Ohio; Kearns, Pennsylvania; Nixon, California. Democrats: Barden, North Carolina; Fisher, Texas; Powell, New York; Wood, Georgia; Madden, Indiana; Klein, New York.

Republicans who would be for the bill if they had the courage to vote against the orders of Speaker Joe Martin and G. O. P. Leader Halleck: Hartley, New Jersey; McConnell, Pennsylvania; Buck, New York; Smith, Kansas; and McKinnon, Minnesota.

In brief, a majority of the committee would be for federal-aid-to-education if the Republicans didn't follow their party leaders.

Besides the party-line issue, individual members of the committee have various reasons for opposing federal aid to education.

One is that certain states would get a bigger proportionate share of benefits than they pay. For instance, New York and Massachusetts, which have progressive education systems, would pay more and get less out of the bill than states like Mississippi.

Another reason for opposition is religious. Democrats like Lesinski of Michigan, Kelley of Pennsylvania and Kennedy of Massachusetts want a clear stipulation that the states will take care of parochial schools in distributing federal funds.

PERSONAL PEEVE AFFECTS CANADA Senator Chapman Revercomb, West Virginia Republican, is blocking a bill that would permit former Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson to serve without pay as head of the Joint U. S.-Canadian defense commission.

Acheson cannot take the post as long as his law firm does business with the United States government.

PRIVATE HOME HAS OWN ZOO

Bob Ruark Has Unique Evening In Lima

By ROBERT C. RUARK

Lima, Peru.—Jim and Liz Walker asked us out to meet the family. Jim is one of the Panagra Airline officials here, and Liz is his pretty blonde wife. They live in a big, handsome house out close to the Country Club.

Ruark

We walked through the door, and a cheery-looking kitten was tumbling around before a cheery-looking fire. It looked like a nice kitty, if a little large. All of a sudden it cut loose a hiss like a punctured truck tire. This beast turned out to be a tiger-cat, or ocelot. It is still in its infancy, but eventually will grow big enough to chew up the cook.

About that time the servant came in with some drinks, and there was only one unusual thing about the entrance. He was preceded by a beast which stood as high as a small cow, and which looked like a cross between a camel and an ostrich. This was Pan-Do, a female vicuna. A vicuna is a first cousin to a llama, and they make those soft coats out of its fur.

Kneel Like Camels
Just behind Pan-Do came Cuz-

co, a baby male vicuna. They both walked around, nibbling at the guests, and then they went over in front of the fire-place, elbowed the tiger—whose name is Maurice—to one side, and settled down. They kneel exactly like camels.

It was not long before Jim Walker came in with Pisco, a dwarf monkey about the size of a rat, coiled around his neck. He then went out and roused up Nellie Lutter, a green parrot. Nellie was sore. She wouldn't talk, although she can say: "Hurry, hurry, gentlemen, or else the bull may gore you", as well as anybody you know. She sat on Liz's shoulder and tried to eat a pearl necklace.

Nicolas, the cat, was not around, but Fitch, the class-conscious cockatoo, sat on his perch and glowered at everybody. Fitch is a disciple of Karl Marx. He hates the bourgeois and the rich. He hates his master and his mistress and their friends. Fitch has no truck with anybody but the servants, the milkman, and the delivery boys.

Pan-Do, the big lady vicuna, is enamored of the Daily Press. Jim tosses a section of newspaper on the floor, and Pan-Do rolls over and over on it. She loves the feel of newsprint. Then she commences to eat the paper.

Never Finishes Lippmann
She digests the editorial page thoroughly, and Jim says she prefers the Herald-Trib to the Times. However, she is never able to finish Lippmann. He writes too long. She races through Billy Rose, in the Miami Herald, but labors over Pegler, who has expanded the size of his column. The Broadway columns give her indigestion. Too many little dots. . . Like that. . . Generally, Pan-Do eats her way around photographs. She is a literary purist in the dietary sense. Both Pan-Do and Cuzco have one nasty habit. They never heard that spit is a horrid word. They clear their snaky throats and let fly at strangers who annoy them. Liz figures to introduce them to chawin' tobacco, some day, and get even with anybody she doesn't like.

Mr. Walker says that all the family gets along well together, with the exception of Fitch, the cockatoo, who hates everybody, and Maurice, the ocelot, who has his eye, mealwise, on the monkey. Maurice is pretty stupid, in a sense. He has no notion of height, and keeps falling off the second-floor balcony, spraining his paws in the process.

Nellie Lutter, the parrot, loves Liz so deeply that Nellie has become frustrated by the telephone. When Mrs. Walker goes to the phone, Nellie flops over and croons into her free ear. If Liz keeps on talking, Nellie can't stand it. She squawks, angrily, her routine of "Hurry, hurry, gentlemen, etc."

The Walkers have no dog, momentarily, because their last dog, Friday, a great dane, became so jealous he wouldn't let the Walkers play with the baby. He had to go.

By the way, I never did get to meet the baby. Name's Carmen. A girl. Gets along well with the rest of the family.

Louisiana Tax Bill Raised 70 Million By Long's Promises

Baton Rouge, La., June 8 (AP)—Louisianians began to foot an additional $70,000,000 per year tax bill today to pay for some of the campaign promises on which they elected Governor Earl K. Long.

The scratch of the governor's pen last night made effective six new tax laws which will boost the daily take from the taxpayers' pockets about $190,000 per day.

That is an increase of about 50 per cent over former taxes. Three of the levies hit the public generally. One boosts from seven to nine cents per gallon the tax on gasoline—making Louisiana's the highest in the nation. Another increases the state retail sales tax from 1 to 2 per cent and makes it applicable to many services heretofore tax free. A third raises from $1.50 to $10 per barrel the tax on beer—about 2 1/2 cents per bottle.

The new tax bills were passed by the Legislature after Gov. Long told the lawmakers the funds were needed to finance his program. This includes a $60,000,000 bond issue for veterans' bonuses; $40,000,000 a year to increase old age pensions to $50 per month and liberalize eligibility rules; more highway construction and a guaranteed minimum pay scale for school teachers.

King Midas Laying Mash

WHY I can remember when the henhouse was a nice, peaceful quiet place! . . . but not any more . . . not since the Boss put those pullets on King Midas Laying Mash! . . . Now the nests look like the production line . . . and the pushing and shoving! . . . All because of those vitamins and minerals in King Midas Laying Mash. The Boss thinks it's swell . . . and that's just fine, but I sure am tired of this strain.

King Midas Laying Mash not only stimulates egg production, over the results of less scientific feeding, but helps continue high production. It replaces elements which the hen loses when the egg is manufactured, and supplies rare minerals, the assimilation of which is aided by certain of the vitamins which King Midas Laying Mash also contains. If you want results . . . for now and the future, switch to King Midas Laying Mash at once.

CHILD HEALTH DEFECTS CITED

Corrections Important, Says Dr. Harrison

Of 200 preschool age children in Escanaba examined in preschool clinics, 99 were found to have one or more defects, it was reported today by Dr. William C. Harrison, director of the Delta-Memominee health district who conducted the clinics.

The clinics were held at the Barr, Franklin, Jefferson, Washington and Webster schools preparatory to the children entering kindergarten next fall. Children of preschool age who were not examined at the clinics will probably be examined by their family physicians, since the parents are being notified by the school nurse that such examinations are necessary before the child enters school.

The health department clinics revealed that 53 of the 99 children with defects were underweight. Some of the children had one or more of the following defects: 17 with tooth defects; 12 tonsils; 7 heart; 5 hernia; 5 flat feet; and 7 skin conditions. Thirty-eight were found to need cod liver oil.

It is important to correct the defects as well as to discover them," Dr. Harrison pointed out. "This is the responsibility of the parents, who should consult their physician to have the defects remedied before the child goes to school next fall."

Besides examining for defects, which included urinalysis, immunization was given as follows: 60 for diphtheria, 82 for smallpox, and 33 given immunization booster shots.

Dr. Harrison said that hearing and vision tests will be given the children after they are in kindergarten next fall. The tests can then be done more exactly and efficiently. Teachers also observe the children to detect indications of sight and hearing defects and the parents are advised to have an examination made.

Hungerford Retires From Michigan Bell

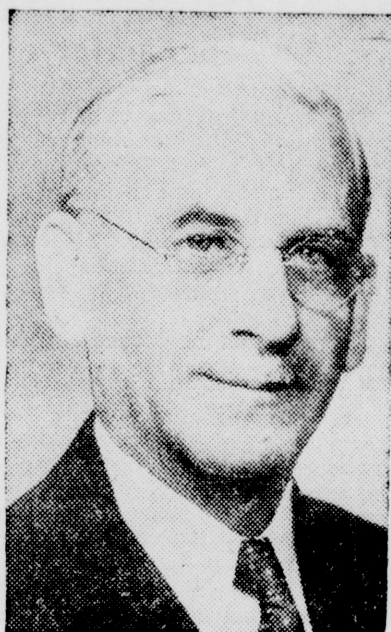

Colen W. Hungerford, Detroit, who was advertising manager for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company for more than two decades, retired today after 29 years with the company.

An old-time newspaperman who has remained close to Michigan newspaper people through the years, Hungerford worked on newspapers in Sault Ste. Marie and Houghton and with the Associated Press in Detroit before going with the Michigan Bell in 1919. At retirement, he was assistant to vice-president for the company.

Hungerford's first newspaper job was office boy at 10 for Chase S. Osborn's Sault Ste. Marie News, then a weekly newspaper. When he left the daily News as a reporter in 1903, his editor was the late Col. Frank Knox, wartime secretary of the Navy and, until his death, publisher of the Chicago Daily News.

From 1905 to 1918, Hungerford was successively reporter and city editor of the Houghton Daily Mining Gazette. He also was a special correspondent for Detroit and other metropolitan dailies during a period when Michigan's Copper Country was on the front page every other day.

Hungerford became assistant

J. ST. JOHN UNDER ARREST

Held As Accessory To Theft Of Motor

Joseph St. John, of Garden, was arraigned Monday afternoon before Judge W. G. Stephens in justice court, charged with being an accomplice of Norman St. John, of Manistique, in the theft of a motor belonging to the Manistique Pulp & Paper Company.

The alleged theft, according to the warrant, is said to have taken place on or about May 2 and the nature of the offense being a felony, he was turned over to the custody of the circuit court, his bond being set at $1,000, which up to Monday night had not been met and he is in custody of the sheriff at this time.

An examination of both Joseph and Norman St. John, who are father and son, respectively, has been set for 2:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

These arrests, by Otto Buelow, state trooper, came after a search of the elder St. John's place had been made with respect to alleged game violations. Buelow had come upon the motor whose serial number was identical with the serial number of a motor missing from the paper mill. Norman's arrest followed shortly afterward and Joseph's a few days ago.

Bell's arrest was made in the early hours of Sunday morning by Lee Bare, who took the intoxicated man into custody after he had sideswiped a car belonging to Melvin Magnuson, of Escanaba.

Bell made arrangements to pay his fine.

Judge Stephens ordered Johnson to pay a fine of $25, with $5 costs and was, in addition, remanded to jail for a thirty day period, or until the damage and the fine was paid. The fine and costs have been paid and arrangements are being made to pay for the damage.

Any one who is dissatisfied with his or his assessment of last year is therefore at liberty to call and confer with the board. All New 1949 Cars Expected To Be Out By End Of The Year

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

Detroit (AP)—Barring another major assembly line stoppage nearly all 1949 model automobiles will be introduced before the year's end.

Besides new models industry circles again are talking about possible production records. If the car builders can get all their labor problems behind them—as now seems likely—they may make 1,000,000 cars and trucks between July 1 and Aug. 31.

So far only Ford has 1949 models in production. Other car makers are turning out parts for new models or are awaiting tools to get fabricating work started.

Stimulating both new model work and production possibilities is the fact that General Motors, Ford and Chrysler have been able to build up materials stockpiles during recent weeks. GM closed each of its plants for a week during April or May; Ford production was curtailed during a model change-over and the now-settled Chrysler strike halted consumption of materials by that manufacturer.

The industry has not had a 500,000-unit month since June 1941. In that month United States plants produced 510,525 cars and trucks.

Next of the car manufacturers to swing to new models will be Nash. Although it may lose a month's production in the change-over Nash's output this year should top 125,000 units. Nash bettered its pre-war high mark in 1946 and again last year. It made 98,769 cars in 1946 and 113,315 last year.

Indications now are that Studebaker may be one of the last to get 1949 models on the assembly lines, probably not until early January.

No More Big Changes
Industry circles are keenly interested in the changes companies like Studebaker, Packard and Hudson may make in their body styling. They were among the first to introduce the postwar style of lower overall height and the pontoon-like fenders. So far as the 1949 model is concerned they may be said to already have it. So the changes—if any—these companies may have in mind probably will be considerably less drastic than those of other producers.

Most industry observers believe the era of the low, streamlined passenger automobile with its lowered center of gravity and "off-the-axle" rear seat, has just begun. There will be no radical departure from this trend for some years to come, according to many industry experts.

It should be noted, though, that ultra-streamlining the postwar car with its flatter hood and straight fender lines from headlamps to taillights is achieved mainly by sheet metal stampings. The stampings represent only a relatively small part of the new model expense and can be changed almost overnight.

Some idea of what is done with stampings is given by General Motors with the limited number of basic bodies it uses for its various models. By changing fenders and hood covers it gains a completely different appearing vehicle.

Many industry authorities believe that once all the 1949 models have been brought out there will be no more radical design changes before 1951 or later. That means "face-lifting"—changing the shape of fenders, hood covers and radiator grilles—again will be in order for 1950 and possibly 1951.

Certainly the several companies that boasted they "went all out" in re-styling and re-designing their postwar models at heavy expense will want to get back some of the investment before spending more millions for engineering changes.

VIETZKE WILL BUILD BOATS

Gladstone Mfg., Plans Plywood Rowboat

Manufacture of boats will be started this week by the Gladstone Manufacturing Co., successors to the Marble Boat Co., it was announced yesterday by Albert Vietzke, operator of the plant.

Heavy demand for boats received by the new owner prompted the decision to enter the boat field at the present time, it was stated by Vietzke.

At the present time a 14-foot rowboat, built of plywood, will be constructed. Pilot boats already have been made and tested, it was stated.

In addition to good length, the boats will have a 52-inch beam, making them very seaworthy.

Veneer which is 3/8th inch thick is being used in the manufacture.

While only one design and one size will be made at present, others will be added in the future, it was declared.

Boat Owners Meet At GYC This Evening

A meeting of all local boat owners is to be held this evening at the Yacht club, Reuben Sjoquist, commodore of the club, announces.

The meeting is for the purpose of advising boaters as to local regulations regarding boating as provided by city ordinance. The meeting will also consider the reservation of space for boats within the harbor limits and an explanation of boating courtesies.

New Glass Keeps Ice Off Windshield

Toledo (SS)—No ice will form on automobile windshields the glass of which is heated by electricity passing through an invisible film coating. There is one catch, however. Higher voltage is necessary than found on the average family automobile.

The new windshield is a product of Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company and has been thoroughly tested during the past winter on several cars in all sorts of freezing rain and below-zero weather. The glass is heated by a continuous electric current which passes through the coating. The covering film is basically stannic oxide, which can be made from any number of tin compounds. Its slight coloring offers no noticeable decrease in visibility.

WORLD'S MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP BOUT—The eyes of the fistie world tomorrow night will be focussed on the world's middleweight title bout between the champion, Rocky Graziano, and the challenger and former champion, Tony Zale, at Newark's Ruppert Stadium.

This is the third meeting between the rivals, the first two being knock-down-drag-out affairs that had even the fans hanging on the ropes. If you're interested in how closely matched these two scrappers are physically, take a glance at the chart above.

Graziano Favored In Third Clash With Zale Tomorrow

Millionaires May Lose But Fighters Will Do All Right

Newark, N. J., June 8 (AP)—The "seven millionaires" who are promoting the third Rocky Graziano-Tony Zale fight here tomorrow night won't get rich but Rocky and Tony will do all right.

A little matter of a guarantee posted in New Jersey assures Graziano, the middleweight champ, of at least $120,000. The ex-champ from Gary, Ind. will get $80,000 or more.

Despite early optimistic estimates of a Ruppert Stadium gate of $450,000, it looks now as though they'll settle for $350,000, at $30 tops the house is scaled for a $540,000 sellout.

This probably is the last big payoff for Zale, even if he wins the crown. It is not expected that there will be a fourth replay of this slugging series.

Graziano still is banned in his home town. In fact, he is not even recognized as champion in New York where the Athletic Commission has ruled the crown "in abeyance." Due to revelations of his spotty army record, the Rock has trouble finding work in other states, too.

Apparently the eight-year youth advantage of Graziano, who is 36 to Zale's 34, is the most important factor with those who bet on fights. Rocky was established as an early favorite and remains 5 to 12 despite the late hour.

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS

BY JIM WARD

Looking around the U. P.: Reports of Sunday baseball games in the five leagues we're covering—Rainbow, Bay de Noc, Tri County, Central U. P. and Tri County Junior—came in fairly good yesterday morning. . . . That is, they came in. . . . But, boy, were some of them late. . . . In our effort to provide as complete coverage as possible for these five circuits, our No. 1 complaint is this:

We have emphasized repeatedly that all games should be 'phoned in by 9 o'clock Monday morning, 9:30 at the very latest. . . . So what happens, everybody waits until 10 o'clock—our deadline—and then everybody calls at once. . . . Try to make it by 9:30 at the latest, eh?

The only 18-hole course in this area (that includes the entire U. P.) is Marinette's Little River, where the par is 33 out and 35 in for 68. . . . If any Escanaba hot-shot golfers are looking for a course record to set, they need look no farther than Little River. . . . The record there is reported to be 34-40-74. . . . On a 68-par course, fellows like Don Feller, Cooney Hogan, Elmer Swanson and Tony Cass, to name only a few, could improve on that 74 without breaking their backs.

The shot put may go the way of the javelin in high school track. . . . It might not be a bad idea. . . . An Iron Mountain high school athlete was badly injured when struck on the chest by a 12-pound shot put ball this spring. . . . And recently in Menominee a 10-year-old boy was fatally injured when struck on the head by a four-pound iron ball tossed by a playmate. . . . The two youngsters were practicing for a grade school meet in Menominee. . . . Close calls in the vicinity of shot put rings are common wherever meets and practices are held. . . . The 12-pound shot is a dangerous missile in midair, and as has been proved at least twice in the U. P. this season it is easy for someone to stray unwisely in the path of a thrown shot put ball.

Kingsford opens its $12,000 lighted baseball field across the highway from the Ford plant Thursday night with an exhibition against the San Francisco Sea Lions, a colored nine. . . . Marquette Graverant won the U. P. Class B tennis title and Fred Albert, Ironwood, won the U. P. Class B individual championship for the fourth consecutive season. . . . Albert's record can never be topped and the odds are several thousand to one that it will ever be equaled.

Two Escanaba high school players made auspicious debuts with the Escanaba Bears in the 7-0 win over Diorite here last Sunday. . . . Dickie Lough looked good at shortstop, and Bob Kenneally handled first base like a veteran. . . . They also came through with hits.

Newhouse Opens A's Philadelphia Series

Philadelphia, June 8 (AP)—Winner only once in their first five games of a costly Eastern tour, the Detroit Tigers hobbled into town on a three-game losing streak today to tackle the Athletics in a three-game series.

The A's were fighting mad after losing three straight to Cleveland and tumbling out of the American League lead.

Hal Newhouse, only Detroit pitcher to hang up a winning effort since the Tigers left home a week ago, drew the mound assignment for the series opener, opposing righthander Carl Scheib of the Macks.

Newhouse clipped New York with a six-hit performance in 11 innings last Thursday for his fourth straight victory and his fifth win of the season against four defeats. That pulled him even with Dizzy Trout in victories but Diz has lost one more. No other Tiger hurler has won more than three games.

The Tigers had plenty of time to get set for their second visit here this year, since yesterday's finale of a scheduled three-game set in Boston was rained out and today's encounter with the A's is a night game. Their Wednesday affair also is under the lights but the series ends with a sunshine clash Thursday.

Detroit has met the A's five times so far this season and lost three of them. The Tigers dropped both ends of their initial stop at Shibe Park and still are looking for their first victory here this season.

$35,376 State Pin Pie to Be Sliced

Flint, Mich., June 8 (AP)—Benedict W. Greens, secretary of the Michigan Bowling Association, said today the $35,376 prize pie of the 1948 men's state tournament at Bay City would be sliced immediately. Prize checks, Grimes said, should be in the hands of local association secretaries by June 26 for distribution to winners.

CENTRAL ALL WET
Rain and wet grounds stymied the Central Baseball league completely yesterday as the entire schedule of four games was postponed. Wet grounds in Flint forced postponement of the Arrows' clash with Saginaw, keeping alive Flint's four-game winning streak and maintaining its three-game lead over second place Muskegon.

U-M Ends School Year With Greatest All-Around Sports Record In History

Ann Arbor, June 8—Michigan closes its book on the 1947-48 athletic season with the greatest all-around sports record in its history.

Wolverine teams won seven national and Big Nine championships and finished as runner-up in three other sports, the best record since the wartime year of 1943-44, when they captured eight out of nine conference titles, including a tie with Purdue for the football crown. Greatest of the peace-time years was 1926-27 when the Maize and Blue won six of ten Big Ten titles.

The record starts with the Big Nine football championship and the Rose Bowl title, with a team that scored 399 points to 43 in all competition. Next came the Wolverine basketball team to capture its first Big Nine title since 1929, and become midwest NCAA representative.

Matt Mann's swimming teams, already with 15 conference and 12 NCAA titles to his credit, added his tenth "double championship" when his Wolverines paddled to twin titles.

Coach Vic Heyliger's hockey team defeated its only conference rival to claim the unofficial Big Nine crown and then went on to win the first NCAA hockey tournament in history at Colorado Springs, and thus became another national champion.

The Wolverine baseball team shared the Big Nine baseball crown with Illinois under the tutelage of Ray Fisher, whose teams had won 11 titles previously.

Michigan's wrestling team finished in a triple tie for second with Illinois and Iowa, losing the title on a contested decision. Coach Bob Dixon's tennis team finished in the runner-up spot while Michigan's 1947 defending champion golf team wound up in fourth place.

The track squad, with Charley Fonville breaking world's national and conference marks in the shotput, and Captain Herb Barten winning the 880 yard indoor and outdoor championships, finished second outdoors and fourth indoors. Fonville highlighted the track season by setting a new world's record of 58 feet three-eighths inch.

Michigan's first gymnastic team since 1932, under Coach Newt Loken, finished third in the conference, but Bob Schoendube won the national AAU trampoline title.

Sisler Of Phils Knocks Former Mates Out Of 1st As Giants Take The Lead

By Joe Reichler
Associated Press Sports Writer

It never fails—trade away a guy and he comes back to make you rue the day.

Eddie Dyer, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, is the latest to feel the wrath of a discarded player. Dyer must have had moments of regret last night when Dick Sisler, former Redbird first baseman, cracked two home runs to lead the Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-1 victory over the Cardinals.

Sisler was traded by Dyer to the Phillies just before the opening of the season for infielder Ralph LaPointe after he lost out as regular first baseman to Nippy Jones.

Giants Beat Bucs
The son of baseball's immortal George Sisler not only whipped his former mates single-handedly by adding a single to his pair of round trippers and driving in four runs, but knocked the Cards right out of the National league lead.

St. Louis' loss together with a New York Giants 9-5 victory over the Pirates in Pittsburgh, dropped the Cards into second place, half a game behind the Giants.

The Giants climbed back into the lead by clubbing Kirby Higbe and Elmer Singleton for 13 hits, nine of them for extra bases. After the Pirates had overcome deficits three times to pull even 5-5 at the end of seven innings, the Giants finally moved ahead to stay when Bobby Thomson whacked a two-run homer in the eighth.

Jim Russell blasted two home runs and two doubles to lead the Boston Braves to a 9-5 victory over the Cubs in Chicago. Russell drove in five runs and scored three himself. The homers were Nos. 6 and 7 for him.

Browns Upset Yanks
In the American league, the St. Louis Browns upset the New York Yankees at Yankee stadium, 5-3.

Carver won their six-game losing streak. Rookie righthander Ned Carver went the route for the first time this season, scattering 11 hits. Johnny Lindell and Phil Rizuto hit homers for the Yankees and Paul Lehner slammed one for the Browns. Frank (Spec) Shea was the loser.

The defeat dropped the third place Yankees three and a half games behind the league leading Cleveland Indians.

The Senators rolled to a 7-1 victory over the last place Chicago White Sox in a night game at Washington. The game was halted by rain with the Senators at bat in the last half of the seventh.
